Cardiotocography (CTG) Training Programme

Electronic fetal monitoring has become an integral part of assessing a fetus, especially with the rise in litigation in modern obstetrics. Most of the institutions have a cardiotocography (CTG) machine, but most of us, the care providers, have not had any formal training with regard to the correct interpretation of a CTG or with management protocols of an abnormal tracing.

Fernandez Hospital aims to fill this void by offering a short training programme. The emphasis will be on learning to make decisions based on CTG tracings, taking into account the entire clinical situation.

The training programme will consist of

I. Five Lectures

- |                                   |                               |
